PATTERSON VETERINARY LAUNCHES NEW SMARTPHONE APP

May 6, 2013 (Devens, MA) – Patterson Veterinary is pleased to announce the release of its latest smartphone app, ePetHealth Mobile. This app allows pet owners to review their animal’s medical record, prescription history, health service reminders and other important information from their iPhone® or Android™ device. Dosage alerts, appointment and refill requests, a mobile Pet ID Card and other features are also available.

ePetHealth Mobile is free to pet owners whose veterinary practices use ePetHealth and can be easily downloaded from Google Play™ or iTunes®. Pet owners simply enter their email address and ePetHealth password to access the app once loaded on their phone. The app can also be used on Android™ and iPad® tablets.

“ePetHealth Mobile is a great addition to our technology portfolio,” commented Matt Russell, Patterson Veterinary’s director of technology. “This is just the latest tool that Patterson Veterinary has developed to help veterinarians better communicate with their clients. We will continually update the app with new features, including integration with our home delivery service, VetSource.”
